Lesson Worksheet — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. is -> are

2. A — I am very happy.

3. like -> likes

4. He kicked the ball.

5. A — I have a pencil. (subject–verb agreement: "I" takes "have", not "has")

6. We walked to school.

7. plays -> play

8. A — It is raining today.

9. don't -> doesn't

10. The tree is tall.

11. A and C ("were" agrees with plural subjects "they"/"we"; B and D incorrectly use "was")

12. She sings beautifully.

13. wag -> wags

14. A and B (both are correct, natural orderings; C and D are not standard English word order)

15. are -> am

Standard

16. go -> went

17. A — He ran quickly because he was late.

18. the -> The (needs a capital letter)

19. brother -> brothers

20. A — The cake was delicious but small.

21. Me and him -> He and I

22. we -> us

23. A — He loves football and cricket.

24. more taller -> taller

25. i -> I; cant -> can't

26. A and B (both are correct, natural orderings; C and D are not standard English word order)

27. was -> were

28. runned -> ran

29. A and C (both start with a capital letter and are correctly ordered; B and D have capitalisation errors)

30. There -> They're

Standard / Hard

31. they're -> their (showing possession, not 'they are')

32. should of -> should have

33. A) is — 'neither' is singular, so it takes a singular verb

34. cats -> cats' (plural possessive apostrophe)

35. threw -> through (a homophone mix-up)

36. have -> has ('everybody' is singular)

37. A) Between you and me — 'between' needs the object pronoun 'me', not 'I'

38. A comma is needed after 'raining': "Although it was raining, the match went ahead."

39. A and C (the punctuation must sit inside the closing speech marks, before the reporting clause)

40. it's -> its (possessive, not the contraction 'it is')

41. B) braver — only one comparative form is needed, not both 'more' and '-er'

42. were -> was ('news' is treated as a singular noun)

43. they're -> their

44. A and C (non-essential extra information needs a comma both before and after it)

45. don't never -> doesn't ever (removing the double negative)

10. The house is small.
11. A and C
12. The dog barked loudly.
13. chase -> chases
14. A and B
15. is -> am

Standard

16. see -> saw
17. A — He was excited because of the trip.
18. the -> The
19. sister -> sisters
20. A — The film was exciting but scary.
21. Him and me -> He and I
22. I -> me
23. A — She loves reading and writing.
24. more faster -> faster
25. she -> She; doesnt -> doesn't
26. A and B
27. was -> were
28. swimmed -> swam
29. A and C
30. Their -> They're

Standard / Advanced

31. boys -> boys' (plural possessive apostrophe): "The two boys' trophy was on the shelf."
32. could of -> could have
33. B) has — 'each' is singular, so it takes a singular verb
34. it's -> its (possessive form, not the contraction 'it is')
35. I -> me (the object pronoun is needed after the preposition 'between')
36. 'Me and my friend' -> 'My friend and I'; 'was' -> 'were'. Corrected: "My friend and I were walking to school."
37. A and B (both open with a subordinate clause, so need a comma before the main clause; C and D do not begin with a subordinate clause)

38. B — 'fewer' is used for things you can count (people), and the verb must also agree ('were')
39. 'childrens' -> 'children'; 'rained' -> 'rain' (the base form is needed after 'began to'): "The children were playing outside. It began to rain heavily."
40. A comma is needed after a subordinate clause that opens a sentence, to separate it from the main clause: "Although he was shy, he answered every question."
41. 'have' -> 'has' ('neither' is singular); 'they're' -> 'their' (possessive). Corrected: "Neither of the twins has finished their project."
42. 'most kindest' wrongly uses two comparative forms together; only one is needed: "She is the kindest girl in the class."
43. A and C (a semicolon alone can join two related, complete sentences; it should not be combined with 'and', and a comma alone is not enough)
44. A — the exclamation mark sits inside the closing speech marks, and no extra comma is needed before 'cried'
45. 'theirselves' -> 'themselves'; 'have' -> 'has' ('everybody' is singular): "The team were arguing amongst themselves. Everybody has an opinion."
