Year 4 Pt 2 — Mark Scheme — Lesson Worksheet & Homework (tutor copy)

Lesson Worksheet — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. A, B and E — box, church and potato all form their plural by simply adding "-es" (baby and leaf are irregular: babies, leaves)

2. jumping

3. walked

4. babies

5. k

6. B — teacher

7. leaves

8. making

9. w

10. B — churches

11. hoped

12. C — children

13. b

14. sitting

15. B — potatoes

Standard

1. unhappy — the prefix "un-" reverses the meaning, so it means "not happy".

2. B — definitely

3. action

4. fair (pleasant weather — not the homophone "fare", meaning a price or food)

5. happily

6. A — necessary

7. expansion

8. B — hear

9. disagree — the prefix "dis-" reverses the meaning, so it means "to have a different opinion".

10. B, C and E — separate, necessary and believe are correct; seperate (A) and beleive (D) are misspelled

11. stories

12. B — their

13. kindness

14. A — believe

15. rebuild — the prefix "re-" means "again", so it means "to build again".

Standard / Hard

1. In British English, double the final "l" even though the stress is not on the last syllable: "travelling" (American English uses "traveling", with a single l).

2. A, B and E — weird, seize and protein are genuine exceptions to the rule (they use "ei" without the /ee/ sound applying cleanly as expected, or in an unusual pattern); "believe" and "receive" correctly follow the normal rule

3. "Practice" is the noun, e.g. "Football practice starts at four." "Practise" is the verb, e.g. "You must

6. B — arguing

7. One way to remember: "one Collar and two Sleeves" (1 c, 2 s) — it comes from the Latin "necesse", meaning unavoidable.

8. B — mice

11. Words ending in a hard "c" sound add a "k" before endings like -ed, -ing or -y, to keep the hard /k/ sound instead of it softening.

12. B — criteria

13. "Complement" means something that completes or goes well with something else, e.g. "The scarf practise every day."

complements her outfit." "Compliment" means a nice remark about someone, e.g. "He paid her a compliment."

4. "Hoping" keeps one p because "hope" has a silent e which is dropped before -ing while the vowel stays long; "hopping" doubles the p because "hop" has a short vowel and a single final consonant, which must be doubled to keep the short vowel sound.

9. "Stationary" means not moving, e.g. "The car remained stationary." "Stationery" means writing materials, e.g. "She bought new stationery for school."

14. "Beginning" doubles the "n" because the stress falls on the last syllable of "begin" (be-GIN); "opening" does not double because the stress falls on the first syllable (O-pen-ing).

5. "Affect" is usually a verb meaning to influence, e.g. "The weather can affect my mood." "Effect" is usually a noun meaning a result, e.g. "The medicine had a strong effect."

10. B — receive

15. "Licence" is the noun, e.g. "She has a driving licence." "License" is the verb, e.g. "The council will license the new shop."

Homework — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. A, B and E — dish, brush and tomato all form their plural by simply adding "-es" (city and wolf are irregular: cities, wolves)

2. helping

3. played

4. cities

5. b

6. B — painter

7. wolves

8. baking

9. g

10. B — brushes

11. smiled

12. C — men

13. b

14. swimming

15. B — tomatoes

Standard

1. unfair — "un-" reverses the meaning, so it means "not fair".

2. B — receive

3. invention

4. B — write

5. easily

6. B and C — occasion and embarrass are correct; occassion (A), embarass (D) and freind (E) are misspelled

7. confusion

8. B — passed

9. misunderstand — "mis-" means "wrongly", so it means "to understand wrongly".

10. A — embarrass

11. families

12. A — Whose

13. excitement

14. A — friend

15. preview — "pre-" means "before", so it means "to view in advance".

Standard / Advanced

1. In British English, double the final "l" even though the stress is not on the last syllable: "cancelling".

6. "i" before "e", except after "c" (for the /ee/ sound); correction: "The thief stole the jewellery."

11. B — phenomena

2. B — argument

3. "Desert" (one s) can mean a dry, sandy area or to abandon someone, e.g. "The camel crossed the desert." "Dessert" (two s's) is a sweet course after a meal, e.g. "We had ice cream for dessert."

4. "Planning" doubles the "n" because "plan" has a short vowel and a single final consonant, which must be doubled before -ing; "raining" does not double because "rain" ends in two vowels followed by a consonant, a different pattern that needs no doubling.

5. "Principal" means the head of a school or most important, e.g. "The principal welcomed the new pupils." "Principle" means a rule or belief, e.g. "Honesty is an important principle."

7. A, B and D — goose→geese, phenomenon→phenomena and mouse→mice are all irregular plurals; dog→dogs and cat→cats simply add -s

8. "Weather" refers to conditions like rain or sunshine, e.g. "The weather was lovely." "Whether" introduces a choice or possibility, e.g. "I don't know whether to go."

9. B — belief

10. Words ending in a short vowel plus a single consonant double the final consonant before -ing (jog → jogging); words ending in a silent e simply drop the e before -ing (hope → hoping), with no doubling needed.

12. "Advice" is the noun, e.g. "She gave me good advice." "Advise" is the verb, e.g. "I advise you to leave early."

13. "Referring" doubles the "r" because the stress falls on the last syllable of "refer" (re-FER); "offering" does not double because the stress falls on the first syllable (OF-fer-ing).

14. "Quiet" means making little noise, e.g. "The library was quiet." "Quite" means fairly or completely, e.g. "I am quite tired."

15. B — comfortable
