PassFrame tuition

Synonyms & Antonyms

Year 4 Pt 2 — Mark Scheme — Lesson Worksheet & Homework (tutor copy)

Lesson Worksheet — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. large / huge / enormous

2. B — cold

3. quick / rapid / speedy

4. sad / unhappy

5. tiny / little

6. B — difficult / hard

7. unhappy / upset

8. quiet / soft

9. A, C and E — furious, cross and annoyed are synonyms for angry

10. end / finish

11. exhausted / weary

12. A — shut / closed

13. frightened / afraid

14. B — dry

15. intelligent / smart

Standard

1. B — trudged

2. invisible

3. B — shouted

4. impolite

5. gigantic

6. dishonest

7. B — ecstatic

8. impatient

9. A, C and E — gazed, gawped and stared could describe someone staring in amazement

10. uncomfortable

11. C — icy

12. incorrect

13. A "glimpse" is a very brief, quick look, while a "stare" is a long, fixed look.

14. "Ancient" suggests something from a very distant historical time, while "old" is a more general word simply meaning not new or young.

15. "Delighted" suggests a stronger, more excited happiness, while "content" suggests a calm, quiet satisfaction.

Standard / Hard

1. Both mean thin, but "slender" has a positive connotation (elegant, graceful), while "skinny" often has a negative connotation (too thin, unhealthy-looking).

2. B — ancient (it emphasises the great age suggested by "three hundred years", more precisely than the general size words "large" or "massive")

3. "Hot" and "cold" are gradable because there are degrees in between (warm, cool); "dead" and "alive" are complementary because there is no

6. ancient — it emphasises the great age suggested by "three hundred years", more precisely than the general size words "large" or "massive".

7. B — 'big/small' are gradable with many shades in between (fairly big, quite small); 'open/closed' are more complementary, with fewer natural in-between states

8. mean / selfish — it captures unwillingness to share or give, the opposite of generosity; "mean" often also implies unkindness, while

11. Both mean wanting to know things, but "curious" has a positive connotation (an admirable interest in learning), while "nosy" has a negative connotation (prying into others' business).

12. Synonym for "brave": courageous / valiant. Antonym for "brave": cowardly / timid.

13. A, C and E — famous means well-known for something good; infamous means well-known for something bad or shocking; both describe being in-between state — something cannot be partly dead.

"selfish" focuses on self-interest.

widely known but with different connotations (B and D are false)

4. "Kids" is informal, while "children" is more formal and neutral; "children" fits a formal school report.

9. "House" refers to the physical building, while "home" carries an emotional connotation of belonging, comfort and family — a house becomes a home through the feelings attached to it.

14. B — glanced (it suggests a quick, brief look, matching "nervously" and the fleeting action of looking back, unlike "peeked" or "gazed")

5. "Cheap" often implies poor quality as well as low price, giving it a negative connotation, while "inexpensive" simply means good value without that negative suggestion.

10. B — declared (it suggests firm, confident speech, matching "firmly" in the sentence, unlike "mumbled" or "whispered")

15. "Unique" means one of a kind, with no degrees of uniqueness, so "very unique" is considered incorrect (something either is or is not unique). "Unusual" means uncommon, which can have degrees ("very unusual" is correct).

Homework — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. great / excellent

2. B — old

3. pleasant / lovely

4. weak

5. silent / calm

6. A — empty

7. amusing / humorous

8. narrow

9. A, C and E — shining, vivid and brilliant are synonyms for bright

10. late

11. courageous / fearless

12. B — dirty

13. gentle / caring

14. B — low

15. fast / rapid

Standard

1. B — devoured

2. illegal

3. A — whispered

4. disappear

5. minuscule

6. irregular

7. B — devastated

8. immature

9. A, C and E — strut, swagger and march could describe someone walking proudly

10. impossible

11. B — sweltering

12. disobey

13. A "peek" is a quick, often secretive look, while a "stare" is a long, fixed look.

14. "Huge" suggests something remarkably or surprisingly large, often stronger than "large", which is a more neutral, general size word.

15. "Terrified" suggests an intense, overwhelming fear, while "nervous" suggests a milder feeling of unease or worry.

Standard / Advanced

1. Both describe confidence, but "assertive" has a positive connotation (standing up for yourself respectfully), while "bossy" has a negative

6. B — trudged (it suggests slow, tired walking, matching "exhausted", unlike "skipped" or "sprinted")

11. Both describe carefulness with money, but "thrifty" has a positive connotation (sensible, wise saving), while "stingy" has a negative connotation (controlling others unfairly).

2. B — eager (it is a gradable antonym pair, since there are degrees between being very reluctant and very eager)

3. "Chilly" suggests a mild, uncomfortable coldness, while "freezing" suggests an extreme, intense coldness — they differ in degree.

4. "Purchase" is more formal, while "buy" is everyday and casual; "buy" fits a casual conversation.

5. stated / reported

7. "Brave" implies courage with awareness of danger, often for a good reason, while "reckless" implies acting dangerously without proper thought or care — the actions may look similar, but the attitude behind them differs.

8. A, C and E — hot/cold are gradable (warm, cool in between); married/single are complementary (generally one or the other); gradable antonyms allow degrees, complementary ones do not

9. rare / scarce — it captures the idea of something being in short supply, the opposite of "abundant" (plentiful).

10. B — enormous (it emphasises the crowd filling every seat, a more dramatic, precise choice than "sizeable" or "adequate") connotation (unwilling to share, mean).

12. Synonym for "honest": truthful / sincere. Antonym for "honest": deceitful / dishonest.

13. "Childish" has a negative connotation, describing immature behaviour in someone who should know better, while "childlike" has a positive connotation, describing innocent or wonder-filled qualities.

14. B — eyed (it suggests a watchful, suspicious look, matching "suspiciously", unlike "glanced" or "admired")

15. "Continual" means happening repeatedly with breaks, e.g. "The continual interruptions were annoying." "Continuous" means happening without any break, e.g. "The continuous rain lasted all day."