PassFrame tuition

Sentences & Clauses

Year 5 Accelerated — Mark Scheme — Lesson Worksheet & Homework (tutor copy)

Lesson Worksheet — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. simple

2. simple (one subject, compound verb 'sing and fly')

3. compound

4. one

5. and

6. B — compound (joined by "but")

7. we went home

8. Because it was late

9. no

10. complex

11. The little girl

12. skipped

13. simple

14. A, B and C (all joined by a coordinating conjunction — and/and/but — linking two main clauses; D is complex, E is simple)

15. e.g. and / but / or / so

Standard

1. complex (contains the non-finite subordinate clause 'Having eaten breakfast')

2. that she recommended

3. it specifies exactly which book is meant — without it, we wouldn't know which book

4. complex (the non-finite phrase 'tired after a long day' acts as a subordinate clause)

5. it acts as the subject of the sentence (a noun clause)

6. B — conjunction (it introduces a clause with its own subject and verb)

7. A — preposition (it is followed by a noun, not a clause)

8. The scientist who discovered the cure won an award.

9. main clause: I will support you; subordinate clause: Whatever you decide

10. compound (three main clauses joined by commas and 'and' — no subordination)

11. a restrictive clause has no commas and gives essential information (identifies which one); a non-restrictive clause is set off by commas and gives extra, non-essential information

12. My uncle, who lives in Bristol, is a doctor.

13. complex (the non-finite clause 'To win the match' is subordinate, expressing purpose)

14. A, C, D and E (Having eaten breakfast / that she recommended / Whatever you decide / To win the match are all subordinate clauses; B is compound with no subordination)

15. an appositive is a noun phrase that renames another noun right next to it (e.g. 'My friend, a talented artist, painted this'); it is a phrase, not a clause, because it has no verb

Standard / Hard

1. compound (three main clauses joined by coordinating conjunctions — none are subordinate)

2. a sentence with at least two main

6. a subordinate clause placed in the middle of a sentence, usually giving extra information about a noun (often set off by commas)

7. which was very old

11. The match was cancelled because it was raining heavily.

12. compound (three main clauses

clauses AND at least one subordinate clause

linked by coordinating/sequencing words, with no subordination)

3. compound-complex

8. C — complex (contains the non-finite '-ing' subordinate clause 'Running quickly')

13. whose

4. Although it was raining

9. a subordinate clause without a main tensed verb, e.g. one starting with an -ing word ('Running quickly, ...')

14. A and C (both have at least two main clauses joined by a conjunction AND a subordinate clause; B is complex with one main clause, D is complex, E is compound-complex too but only one option set is required — accept A and C as the clearest pair)

5. we went outside / we got soaked

10. complex

15. Although she was nervous, she walked on stage, and the audience cheered.

Homework — Answers

Easy / Standard

1. simple

6. A — simple (one clause, joined verb phrase "likes ... but not" — only one subject and verb)

11. The tall boy

2. simple (one subject, compound verb 'bark and howl')

7. we played outside

12. laughed

3. compound

8. Since it was sunny

13. simple

4. one

9. yes

14. A, B and C (all joined by a coordinating conjunction — and/and/but — linking two main clauses; D is complex, E is simple)

5. or

10. complex

15. e.g. and / but / or / so

Standard

1. complex (contains the non-finite subordinate clause 'Exhausted after the race')

6. B — conjunction (it introduces a clause with its own subject and verb)

11. a restrictive clause has no commas and gives essential information (identifies which one); a non-restrictive clause is set off by commas and gives extra, non-essential information

2. that we watched

7. A — preposition (followed by a noun, not a clause)

12. My sister, who lives in York, is a teacher.

3. it tells us exactly which film is meant — without it we wouldn't know which one

8. The author who grew up in Leeds wrote a bestseller.

13. complex (the non-finite clause 'To catch the train' is subordinate, expressing purpose)

4. complex (the non-finite phrase 'worn out from the walk' acts as a subordinate clause)

9. main clause: I will follow; subordinate clause: Wherever you go

14. A, C, D and E (Exhausted after the race / that we watched / Wherever you go / To catch the train are all subordinate clauses; B is compound with no subordination)

5. it acts as the subject of the sentence (a noun clause)

10. compound (three main clauses joined by commas and 'and' — no subordination)

15. an appositive is a noun phrase that renames another noun right next to it (e.g. 'My teacher, a keen runner, joined the race'); it is a phrase, not a clause, because it has no verb

Standard / Advanced

1. compound

2. it has at least two main clauses and at least one subordinate clause

3. who was very strict

4. complex (contains the non-finite '-ing' subordinate clause 'Smiling brightly')

5. whose

6. The trip was cancelled because the weather was too dangerous.

7. Although he was late, he caught the bus, but he missed the meeting.

8. embedded relative (subordinate) clause — it gives extra information about 'the book'

9. 'It started to rain, so we quickly went inside.' (or: 'It started to rain; we quickly went inside.')

10. 'Exhausted after the match' (a non-finite clause) and 'who had trained all week' (an embedded relative clause)

11. it has a subordinate clause ('Whenever she visits') introduced by the subordinating conjunction 'whenever', attached to a main clause

12. e.g. 'Because he forgot his homework, he had to stay in at break.' (a main clause must be added)

13. She trained hard, but she missed the final because she was ill.

14. A, B, C and D (all have at least two main clauses joined by a conjunction AND a subordinate clause; E is complex with one main clause)

15. main clause: The girl smiled; subordinate clause: as she opened her present